URSULA K. LE GUIN MEMORY BOOK

Contribute to the Ursula K. Le Guin Memory Book. It's in Galleria Maker Space (the corner of the Galleria up the small flight of stairs by the exterior door) until 6pm on Sunday. Write a message or create some art in memory of Ursula K. Le Guin. The memory book will be shared with Le Guin's family after Boskone. If you want you can leave a remembrance, on the Boskone Facebook page today and we'll print it off and include it.

FREE BOOKS FREE

Due to the generosity of members, Boskone this year is giving away an unusually large number of books, both SF and non-fiction. The books are laid out on both sides of the escalators in the Galleria escalator lobby; they will not be going back to the NESFA clubhouse, so please look on both sides and take whatever interests you.

XENOLINGUISTIC TRANSLATION HELP NEEDED

Friday evening the formerly bare panels along the far left side of the Consuite were suddenly filled with light. It might appear to be a freeform sculpture, but a Boskone member immediately suggested it might perhaps instead be a message from an unknown alien species.

What do you think? If it's a message, what alien language is it in and what does it say? Please send your translation to helmuth@boskone.org or leave it in the Helmuth submission box at the Info/Volunteers desk in the Galleria. Thanks!-- Geri Sullivan

ACCESS AT BOSKONE

We have an Access area as part of Information and Volunteers this year. We added Access information to the Website (<http://www.boskone.org/about/access/>) and have been working to make it easier for everyone to enjoy Boskone.

We have reserved a few seats in the front row of each panel for people who have limited hearing or vision, and have taped out areas in each function room for mobies and wheelchairs. Many function rooms also have extra open space in the back.

We have checked areas and adjusted tables and chairs to ensure people using mobies can more easily get through. If anyone notices any spots that are difficult to navigate or identifies other issues that Access should be aware of, please drop an E-mail to access@boskone.org or stop by the Information/Volunteers/Access table in the Galleria.

FOUND AT BOSKONE—PRE-CON

Three different people have found small glass marbles on the floor of the Galleria. Also found were two shiny cents. If you find any more marbles or anything interesting on the floor at Boskone, please let Helmuth know so we can update this report.
